

PRESS RELEASE

RSI GLOBAL ART COMPETITION was happy to have the Power of Play Non-Profit Organization in Canada involved in this year's art competition that revolved around the theme 'Think Green'. There were students aged 9-18 from North America, Africa, the Middle East, and Asia to participate in the event. This year's competition drew a record number of participants, and the organizers are thrilled with the results.

The RSI ART AWARD has always been focused on bringing out the creative side of children and valuing every child around the world, regardless of their background, ethnicity, or location. The goal of the competition is to unite children through art, as the organizers believe that art is an international language that knows no borders.

"We are proud to have hosted another successful year of the RSI GLOBAL ART COMPETITION," said Lidia Habibinia, the director of the RSI GLOBAL ART AWARD. "Our aim has always been to celebrate the creative talents of children from around the world and to provide them with a platform to showcase their artistic abilities."

This year, RSI GLOBAL ART COMPETITION partnered with the non-profit organization, Power of Play, which is building playgrounds and bringing joy to thousands of children worldwide. The partnership has been a huge success, with both organizations working together to promote the importance of creativity and play in the lives of children.

"We are delighted to have partnered with Power of Play and to support their efforts to bring joy to children across the world," said Habibinia. "We believe that every child is important, and they are the future. Our partnership with Power of Play is just one way that we are working to make a positive impact on the lives of children."

RSI GLOBAL ART COMPETITION would like to thank all the teachers and supervisors who helped make this year's event a success. The organizers are looking forward to welcoming more students from around the world to participate in the competition next year and showcase their artistic talents.
